But whether new school law is to be come popular and entirely acceptable to the people of the State, will depend in a great measure upon the manner of its execution by the superintendent of education and the county supervisors. A law of this nature may be ever so complete in its design and fall in the end for want of proper officials to work it outless are as the designs of a most excellent architect would come to naught in the hands of incompetent builders it is to be hoped that no mistake has been made in the selection of the "master workman," although the election for superintendent of education fell upon one who had found a "lion in his way" through all the stages of the passage of the bill through the House. There is no doubt of Mr. Palmer's ability, and it is to be hoped that he has also the genius discretion and determination sufficient to the occasion. The position is a most responsible one and proceeded to examine him on his lesson, "What will two apples plus two apples make?" "If they are where I can get at them they will make a stomach-ache," relief the truthful boy.—Chicago Trabuse.

A map of Dakota, with Indiana, Maine, Vermont, New, Hampshire, Massa husetis, connection, Rhode Island, New Jersey, South Carolina and Islaware within its limits, with quite a little room to spare, is being published in Western states. South Dakota itself would make two states the area of Ohio.

The Register of Columbia, S.C., the most influential newspaper in the State ouiside of Charleston, in view of the propositions to practically distract chise the Southern negro, now so popular down South, says:

The Register seems to recognize the fact, well known everywhere, that the Southern Democratic, in their treatment of the negro vote, are a "set of rascals."
